Hormonal Support For Adult Women*

Being a woman in your 40s doesn't have to mean hot flashes, mood swings, weight gain and night sweats. Many women suffer from a wide range of uncomfortable, embarrassing, hormone-related "flush" symptoms — such as sweating, blushing, feeling anxious, and going from unbearably hot to freezing cold in what feels like an instant — as they approach menopause. And for some, these symptoms begin as early as their 30s and carry on for years.

But you don't have to be miserable just because your body is changing. Estrodyne™ Complex from Limitless Worldwide® is a completely soy-free, antioxidant-rich formula that was specifically designed to help reduce the symptoms associated with hot flashes and menopause.* Its proven oestrogenic properties can help give you relief from the discomfort of menopause-related "flush" symptoms.*

In fact, the key Estrodyne compound was proven in a randomized, doubleblind, placebo-controlled study involving 84 women to reduce not only the severity and length of these vasomotor "flush" events, but to significantly reduce the actual number of times they occurred.*

So stop thinking hot flashes and night sweats are something you just have to deal with. Fight back with Limitless Worldwide's Estrodyne Complex... it just might make you feel like you never hit 40.

Science... Beyond Testimonials®

Estrodyne™ Complex

BEING A WOMAN OVER 40

Menopause is a natural process that occurs in women's lives as part of normal aging, a transition during which a woman gradually moves from being reproductive to non-reproductive. The transition has three stages: 1) perimenopause, 2) menopause, and 3) post-menopause.

Perimenopause usually starts in a woman's 40s, but can start in a woman's 30s or even earlier. During this time, many women begin to experience uncomfortable and often embarrassing symptoms including hourly waves of heat, transient daytime sensations of blushing, rapid sweating, increased heart rate, followed by chills, palpitations, metabolism changes, elevated heart rate, and sensations of anxiety. A single episode of these symptoms is often referred to as a vasomotor "flush" event. Furthermore, night-time sweats often disrupt sleep, resulting in fatigue and irritability. Menopause is the point when a woman has not had menstrual cycles for at least 12 months. Post-menopause is the stage after menopause. Even in the post-menopausal state, many women still experience vasomotor "flush" events. Indeed, while some women experience symptoms for only a few months or years during this entire transition, many suffer for 10, 20, or sometime more than 30 years without relief.

ESTRODYNE™ COMPLEX

Now there is an answer for the discomforts of the menopausal transitions: Estrodyne. The optimized Estrodyne compound is soy-free and has been shown to significantly reduce the number, length, and intensity of these vasomotor "flush" symptoms in women over 40.* A 12 week randomized double-blind, placebo controlled study that involved 84 women was carried out to evaluate the efficacy of the Estrodyne compound. The women were between the ages of 40 and 65 years and undergoing natural or surgical menopause. Subjects were randomly assigned to one of two groups, receiving either the key Estrodyne compound or placebo. At baseline and over the course of the 12 week study, the number and severity of vasomotor "flush" events were quantified.

Results showed that women in the Estrodyne compound group experienced a 51% reduction (9.7 - 4.7/day) in the number of hot flushes by week 12 (p=0.049), which was statistically significant compared to the 30% reduction in the placebo group. Furthermore, the total duration of symptoms was significantly decreased at 12 weeks compared to placebo. Overall, the number, intensity, and length of vasomotor "flush" events were significantly reduced.*

CONCLUSION

Now there is a dietary supplement designed specifically to help address the hot and cold, the day and night sweats, and the associated anxiety and sleep deprivation caused by vasomotor "flush" events associated with menopause.* If you are a woman experiencing the vasomotor symptoms of menopause, Estrodyne Complex could make you feel like you never hit 40.
